Tiffany Wilkinson (2003)

Call: 2003 Inner Temple
Tenant: Since 2007
Practice: Family Law

SPECIALISING IN financial relief and cohabitee disputes and all aspects of family law

Tiffany Wilkinson is a specialist family law practitioner. Her main area of expertise is financial remedy applications and cohabitee disputes. Tiffany is regularly instructed on behalf of husbands, wives and other parties, such as those seeking to intervene or be joined to proceedings. She has a particular interest in cases involving business valuations and pension disputes.

Tiffany welcomes instructions in private and public law Children Act matters and Family Law Act applications. Her private law work includes shared residence, residence, contact and special guardianship disputes as well as leave to remove and internal relation applications. In public law cases, Tiffany represents the full range of parties, including local authorities, the parents or guardian.

Her practice also encompasses civil law as well as advising and representing rugby clubs and the Rugby Football Union in both on-field and off-field matters and she is a qualified rugby referee.

Tiffany is regarded as an experienced, tenacious advocate; known for her conscientious and diligent approach to each case as well as her ability to provide realistic advice either in writing or in conference at Chambers or elsewhere. She combines expertise with an approachable manner and ability to empathise; she has an appreciation of the demands and concerns of professional and lay clients and is sensitive to the particular stresses and anxieties of litigation and mediation.

Tiffany is a trained Mediator, Direct Access qualified and a member of the FLBA.

Tiffany Wilkinson is recommended in the Legal 500.
